

The future of Advantaged Thinking

Colin Falconer – Director of InspireChilli – colin@inspirechilli.com

Imagine a world....

- Where everyone can express their talent
- Where every service & system enables talent to thrive
- Where society benefits from the talents of all people - not just an elite

Imagine a world....

- Where young people can use AT in their own lives
- Where AT programmes are developed by & with young people
- Where AT training is delivered by & with young people
- Where AT quality is measured by & with young people
- Where Young people are the voice of AT

How do we achieve that?

Keeping our vision focused on a good life –

ARISTOTLE

- What good looks like for & with young people
- What to invest in to be able to create that good
- Who can help lead the growth of good
- What space can support a good home for Advantaged Thinking to flourish in

Emerging themes on the horizon

Knowledge

Power

Culture

KNOWLEDGE – Advantaged Thinking Framework

- what Advantaged thinking is
- how to be & use Advantaged Thinking
- how to share Advantaged Thinking with others

POWER – Advantaged Thinking Framework

- Power for young people to express and lead advantaged thinking in their lives
- Power for young people to create and share advantaged thinking with others

CULTURE – Advantaged Thinking Framework

- Policies, procedures, practices and people that ensure AT is embedded and sustainable
- Assessed by practitioners and young people
- What matters for young people is what gets measured

The future has to be 'REAL'

BEING ADVANTAGED
THINKING

TALK ABOUT
UNDERSTAND
WORK WITH INVEST BELIEVE IN INVOLVE
CHALLENGE

Four empty rectangular boxes with rounded corners and a pink-to-purple gradient border, stacked vertically. These boxes are likely intended for additional text or content related to the 'REAL' future theme.

A close-up of an orange t-shirt with bold black text. The text is arranged in four lines: "DON'T", "DISS -", "ADVANTAGED", and "THINKING".

DON'T DISS - ADVANTAGED
THINKING

The future will have a different
t-shirt – but what will it say?
